

Assoc. Professor Mario Fernando

Wednesday, 18 October 2017, 12:30pm-1:30pm

AHSRI, Seminar Room, Level 1 iC Enterprise 1,
Innovation Campus, University of Wollongong

Human resource and decision-making challenges in the healthcare sector.

With healthcare employees bearing a range of pressures due to under resourcing, skill shortages and overworking, healthcare unit manager's decision-making concerning employee engagement and wellbeing can be critical to retaining the best talent in the sector.

In this context, Mario will share findings from research projects examining the wellbeing and employee-organisation connectedness of Australian healthcare employees. The outputs of this research are expected to help healthcare unit managers to make informed decisions for improved staff and organisational outcomes.

RSVP for seating to Julie de Clouet 02 4221 3464
or juliedc@uow.edu.au